c) Ignition Grant

d) Project Title: Promoting Pluralism through Teacher Education

e) The Sample Jewish School requests $18,000 over one year to explore different types of teacher training that will help promote pluralism within the Judaic studies classroom.

f) About this Institution:

Sample Jewish School is a non-denominational Jewish day school that teaches children from kindergarten to eighth grade. Our students come from across the religious spectrum. We have 200 students in our elementary school and nearly 100 in our middle school. In the past ten years, our enrollment has doubled. The school was founded in 1982 and is the only Jewish day school in Angria, New York. The SJS's mission is to provide quality education in both secular and Jewish subjects, with a particular emphasis on pluralism and the inclusion of students with disabilities.
